Mr. Frank Percival and little daughter Ines of Johnson county, Nebraska, are visiting friends and relatives in Napoleon, and also in the county. Frank looks natural after an absence of twelve years.

Misses May and Lillian Blair and Lillian Chase, and Messrs. J. H. Froese, J. H. Horning and W. S. Froese, of Napoleon, were up here Thursday evening last to see "Evangeline."—Defiance Express.

MURDER IN WOOD CO.—At about half past 10 o'clock on the morning of the 10th inst., at Stony Ridge, Wood county, James Stewart was shot and killed with a shotgun by his brother-in-law, E. B. Morse, of Pemberville. Stewart was a respected citizen of Stony Ridge, and Morse claims the shooting was done in self defense. The quarrel, which has resulted so fatally, grew out of a disagreement between Stewart and his wife. Morse was arrested.

You have an undoubted right to stop a newspaper when you feel disposed, upon the payment of all arrearsages. Do not hesitate to do so on account of "tenderness" for the editor. Don't you suppose he would stop buying sugar of you, or meat, clothing, or dry goods, etc., if he thought he was not getting his money's worth, and why should you not exercise the same privilege with him?—Pataskia County Sentinel.

Time to cut corn.

Fair times now-a-days.

Our job department is kept busy.

Holmes county has but one negro.

The Defiance Fair commences on the 23rd inst.

Fred. Bahart is now busy delivering coal.

The Tri-State Fair is in full blast this week.

Read D. & J. Wilson's new advertisement.

For choice dried peaches go to Teitjen & Co's.

Clean up the rubbish and cut down the weeds.

The Fulton County Fair will commence on the 22d.

Gardner & Son have a display card in this issue. Read it.

As a little bug grows does he become a little bigger or a little bigger.

The Democratic Senatorial Convention will be held in Toledo to-day.

Sheriff Daum took Wm. Koch to the Asylum at Columbus, Monday.

Henry county, and especially Napoleon, is well represented at the Fair at Toledo this week.

Hon. H. C. Grochner has moved into his new residence. It is one of the finest residences in Napoleon.

Napoleon society will sadly miss the many young people who are going away for the fall and winter.

Farmers, bring your country produce to Teitjen & Co., and get the highest market price in cash for it.

President Garfield seems to improve some since his removal to Long Branch. He is still in a critical condition.

Chicken cholera is making its appearance. Sulphur is said to be a good remedy. Mix with corn meal and feed.

Hahn & Meyer have a fine stock of piece goods from which to select stylish suits. Their fits are perfect and prices low.

Money is being sent from all prominent points to the Michigan fire sufferers. We publish an account of the fire upon our inside this week.

Hahn & Meyer are busy turning out those nobby fall suits which can only be found at the Eagle Clothing House. Call in and take a look at their stock.

When you have got an old horse that has passed the market period, apply a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and the result will be marvelous. Read advertisement.

Chas. Rostetter has been appointed Deputy Marshal by the council. He has given bonds and is ready for business if any turns up. Mr. Rostetter is a good police officer.

"Look here, my fine fellow," said the lecturer to the boy who was disturbing the orator by constantly coughing, "here's a quarter to get a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup."

Michael Cramer hauled and sold to J. Koller & Co's elevators last week one load of wheat containing 107 bushels and 10 pounds, which sold for $141.46. Who can beat it?

If any of our readers wish to improve their cattle, they should attend the Fulton County Fair. A large number of short horn cattle are to be sold on the 3d day of the fair, Saturday, Sept. 24th, commencing at 1 o'clock. See local notice.

Parties desiring territory to canvass for Bloom's popular edition of the Laws of Ohio, can obtain the same by calling upon O. A. Colman, representing Robert Clark & Co., of Cincinnati, at the Miller House, or by letter to Napoleon, Ohio, immediately.

The people of the West owe a debt of gratitude to Dr. Ayer for the production of Ayer's Sore Throat Cure. It is a medicine that will save much suffering and much discouragement, and we recommend it with the greatest confidence in its ability to do all that is promised for it.

J. Koller & Co. paid out for grain during the month of August, 1881, $53,143.27. They shipped during that month 630 barrels of flour, 2 cars of chop feed, 1 car of bran, 7 cars of rye, 1 car of corn, and 71 cars of wheat. That is a pretty good month's business.

The ready-made clothing to be found at the Eagle Clothing House of Hahn & Meyer is no slop-shop goods, but garments made especially for their trade and which can be warranted just what they are sold for. Call in and see them and their goods.

OPENED UP.—Sherman, Harris & Co. have opened up their new hardware store on Washington street, and now ask everybody to call and see them and examine their new stock and new quarters. They intend to do a general business in the hardware line, and will also do all kind of tin work and repairing on short notice. Read their new advertisement.

GAME LAWS.—The following is a synopsis of the game law of Ohio, showing what kind of game and at what time in the year the different kinds may be killed:

Ruffed grouse or pheasant and blue winged teal, after the 1st of Sept. until the 1st of Jan. Mallard or wood-duck, or other wild duck after Sept. 1st until April 1st, woodcock after July 4th until Jan. 15th, and wild deer after Oct. 15th until Nov. 20th may be lawfully killed.

It is unlawful to kill any of the following named birds at any time of the year: swan, sparrow, blue-bird, robin, martin, thrush, mocking-bird, swallow, oriole, red-bird, grosbeak, cat-bird, chaw-wink, ground-robin, pewee or phoebe-bird, wren, cuckoo, indigo-bird, nut-hatch, crow, yellow-bird or kingbird, yellow-crowned-cuckoo, warbler or finch, vireo, red-start, dummock, nightingale, dove, cross-bill or crow-oak, Hungarian robin, European black-bird, and great-tit or blue-tit.

Fresh Baltimore Oysters.

Received daily by Teitjen & Co. For sale by the dish or can.

The Fulton County Fair.

Among the unusual attractions of this Fair this season will be a great sale of thoroughbred stock. Several thousand dollars worth of thoroughbred short horn cattle are to be sold on Saturday, Sept. 24th, commencing at 1 o'clock p. m., rare chance to purchase at your own price. There is every indication of a very successful Fair.

WANTED.—A first class young man to learn the photograph business at the new gallery of Gardner & Son.

A BIG BLOW.—We believe that many people in reading about the railroad paints sold at Saur's drug and paint store, think it only a big blow from some advertiser and pass it hastily by, and that the paint is really no better than many other kinds about which there is a great deal less said. Now, we are not in the habit of saying any more about one man's goods than we are of another. But, in this case, in justice to ourselves and to the truth, we must say that Saur's Railroad Paints are all and everything which is claimed for them and we verily believe that they have no equal in point of durability, in covering a greater amount of surface than any other paint, besides making a finish which is far superior to all others.

Basket Pic-Nic.

Wm. A. Choate Post No. 16 G. A. R. will give a basket pic-nic Sept. 30th, at the Lingle grove, on the south bank of the river, above town.

All ex-soldiers and their friends and all citizens are cordially invited to meet with us and spend a day in having a good time and renew and keep alive old friendships, to talk and live over the stirring scenes of by-gone days. We hope every old soldier boy of the county will come with his basket well filled accompanied by his family and friends.

The new steamer has been chartered for the day to run from the bridge to the grove, commencing at 9 a. m., round trip, 15c. The grove is also reached by one of the finest drives in the town.

Grove is one mile from river bridge. The following committees have been appointed:

Committee on Arrangements:—L. Y. Richards, Otto Honeck, H. B. Powell, H. E. Fast, A. S. Condit.

Committee on Groves and Transportation:—Lee Drummond, Jas. Shay, Jos. Grim.

Committee on Finance:—H. E. Cary, J. N. High, Geo. H. Roeder, H. F. Meyerholz, L. Drummond.

OBITUARY.

KOLLER—Died, on Sept. 6th, 1881, Mrs. Simon Koller, of Bloomville, Seneca Co., Ohio, of typhoid fever. She was the mother of Koller & Brother, of our village. She was born in York county, Pa., Jan. 6th, 1810, and at her death was aged 71 years and 8 months. She moved to Ohio by team in 1837, with her husband, who survives her; they have been married 53 years and lived on their present farm 41 years. She leaves a husband, two sons and three daughters to mourn her death.

It is simply marvelous how quickly constipation, biliousness, sick headache, fever and ague, and malaria, are cured by "Seller's Liver Pills."

CORRESPONDENCE.

More About the Spirits.

In continuance of my last letter will now speak briefly of the appearance of my present wife's relatives and their communications, with perhaps slight digression before the conclusion of this letter. While engaged in an interview with my son Charles, my wife, cousin, and self were all standing together at a cabinet door, my cousin occupying a position behind and between us, (the door not being of sufficient width to admit of but two abreast) the first saw another form, an old gentleman with white hair and whiskers, calling our attention to it with the remark, there is an old man with white hair and beard, who is it? and apparently before the last word had escaped his lips, a glimpse of this form and countenance had been caught by my wife with the sudden exclamation, "there's my brother Lyman." He came on every occasion of our attendance with many messages to communicate, but to be brief will particularize but a few. After due compliments of long separated friends, the being a physician and life long practitioner says don't ever have any of your sons study for physicians, I was myself out by overdoing, exposure and losing rest, and then referring to my son said Charles killed himself by too close student-ship, and during his remarks says this is glorious, (a peculiar expression of his own during life) when referring to any thing of great moment or pleasure to him, and whether tending to comfort or consolation was referring to his present condition, or meeting and communicating with his living friends on earth is still matter of conjecture with us. He also remarked, why is the world so slow in learning this truth? My wife responding, people are slow to learn new things, I adding, that very few had ever had this opportunity. He answering, it ought to be known, repeating with great emphasis (as in life when deeply interested) "it ought to be known."

Next came a stranger to us all, a man who in appearance had passed the zenith of life, standing squarely in front of my wife, he being informed by us simultaneously that we did not recognize him as one that we had ever before met, directing his conversation to my wife said I am your brother Ira, I left home when you was so small you cannot remember me, adding it is possible that this is my youngest sister Amanda, she answering in the affirmative, he with expressions of joy by words and demonstration reaching his arm clear out of the aperture half its length in full view, placing his hand upon her head caressingly with tender expressions of a loving and long departed brother, and during the interview with this personage he on our occasion says now take a good look at me so you will know me when you see me again, thrusting his full face clear out beyond the curtain, and on informing him that we expected to visit his family while on our tour de duty to give his love to them. A young lady also came and said (addressing my wife) I am your cousin Amanda El-dridge, and soon departed. This figure represented a young lady who died nearly 30 years ago in Chenango county, New York, and was reared in the same neighborhood with my wife and very familiar friends in their childhood but was as far from mind at the time of the showing as I have never lived (so says my wife). Another young lady and cousin of very similar circumstances, came in plain form and said distinctly I am your cousin Hannah Smith, simply showing herself with that familiar look as when girls together each resembling their childhood looks varying somewhat in height, the latter being considerably the tallest figure as in real life.

My wife's mother whose countenance was still fresh in our memories (although not seen for many years), was another object of our vision not to be mistaken, who only uttered audibly, mother El-dridge, with a few whispers and but one appearance.

We also saw figures of little children purporting to be relatives of other parties, the truth of which we have no knowledge consequently no remarks to make.

At our first setting three ladies, said to be from a distance, arriving by train and strangers to the medium and all other parties present were in attendance, one of whom no doubt experienced some unpleasant character being revealed in audient tones to the whole audience by an old German spirit (Von Kivens) mentioned in previous article, stating to the lady that she had lost one husband in the army and had remarried and experienced much trouble with her late companion that they had quarreled, moved from place to place, or from house to house, describing name, and where, also giving names, the truth of which we have no knowledge consequently no remarks to make.

At our first setting three ladies, said to be from a distance, arriving by train and strangers to the medium and all other parties present were in attendance, one of whom no doubt experienced some unpleasant character being revealed in audient tones to the whole audience by an old German spirit (Von Kivens) mentioned in previous article, stating to the lady that she had lost one husband in the army and had remarried and experienced much trouble with her late companion that they had quarreled, moved from place to place, or from house to house, describing name, and where, also giving names, the truth of which we have no knowledge consequently no remarks to make.

This letter will conclude our experience with the purported condition of departed friends and their power of mediumistic communication with mortals, and with that independence and honor that constitutes the true man and individuality. Give this to the public as received by three senses, sight, hearing and feeling.

The above is what we saw, heard, and felt, briefly described, on three occasions, now let us theorize and analyze the facts connected with this phenomena from beginning.

1st. The thought of seeing departed friends under any existing conditions, was contrary to preconceived opinions.

2d. We did see the figures as described recognizing those with whom we were familiar in life.

3d. We were several hundred miles from home among entire strangers to us, and to those who made their appearance, medium noting hearing the names of our friends, much less ever seeing a single one of these countenances by any earthly means that could possibly be conceived of.

4th. We had no knowledge of any personage that was to appear until they stood before us, not recognized by us, or their names given by the medium.

5th. It is in the power of known human art to produce correctly the image, and give the names of persons never seen or heard of by the artist.

6th. Would respectfully invite all to investigate for themselves as we have and detect fraud if they can.

7th. We made thorough examination of the small cabinet before the medium, examined and was unable to find any device, machinery, pictures, portraits, papers of any kind, trap-doors, or entrance, whereby any person could enter except the one entrance, and know there was no physical form entered but the medium after we examined the cabinet when these forms presented themselves and moved about like living persons.

8th. My son proposed to exhibit himself to us at home when we returned if we would hold a circle which has not yet been completed, but when done results will be made known.
